Dear Colonel Pemberton:

Thank you for forwarding the "Proceedings for the Twenty-Fourth International Affairs Symposium." We read the summation of the proceedings with interest. The introduction by Professor Robert L. Pfaltzgraff, Jr., on the Utility of Force in Foreign Policy together with accompanying comments provide a valuable review of the critical issues under study.

The "Proceedings" are of particular interest today to certain of our officers who are developing a program in military analysis designed for analysts who are not military specialists but who in today's world require a certain degree of knowledge of military affairs to permit them to carry out meaningful regional or topical analysis.

We appreciate your forwarding these for our use.

Sincerely,

Director

Dear Mr. Casey:

Enclosed are the "Proceedings for the Twenty-Fourth International Affairs Symposium." The Symposium was conducted by the School of International Studies at the United States Army John F. Kennedy Special Warfare Center. Such Symposia are held twice annually as the culminating exercises of the Center's Foreign Area Officer (FAO) Courses. Complete background information on these Symposia is contained in Appendix A to the enclosed booklet.

The first plenary session was opened by the Commandant, Brigadier General Joseph C. Lutz. Next, Colonel Ralph C. Gauer introduced the participants and explained the procedures of the first plenary session. Following the keynote address by Dr. Robert L. Pfaltzgraff, Jr., five workshops convened to discuss the specific issues outlined by the Symposium. These issues were the Lessons of Experience, Strategic Deterrence, Extended Deterrence, Low Intensity Conflict and Military Assistance. The workshops produced some excellent, thought provoking ideas, conclusions and recommendations. The "Proceedings" are provided in the belief that it is beneficial to share the fruits of such efforts with individuals and agencies sharing our interests in national security affairs.

We hope these "Proceedings" will be of interest and use to you.

Respectfully,

David L. Pemberton
